Which one of the following statements comes closest to your view?

The UK should seek to remain a great power, with substantial armed forces and its own seat at the United Nations Security Council as one of the 'big five' permanent members (the others are the United States, Russia, France and China)

The UK should accept that it is no longer a great power, cut its defence budget further, in due course give up its seat on the UN Security Council, and reduce its contribution to maintaining international security

Which one of the following statements comes closest to your view?

British foreign policy should be based at least in part on ethical considerations, even if this means sometimes not acting in Britain's immediate national interest

British foreign policy should pursue Britain's national interest at all times, even if this means doing things that some people regard as unethical

Thinking about popular uprisings (such as in Syria) in which citizens attempt to overthrow a dictator, which one of these statements comes closest to your view?

* The question is slightly different to that asked 2011/2012 surveys

Britain has a moral responsibility to support such uprisings regardless of whether it benefits Britain's national interests	21	23	17	12	21	26	9	10	19	20	15	18	29	19	14	11	19	13	19	16	17	16	15

In 2013-14, the British government spent approximately £732 billion in total. Of this, £140 billion was spent on health care, £98 billion on education, £38 billion on defence and £11 billion on international aid. How many billion pounds do you think, or guess, the government contributed to the EU in 2013-14, after deducting the amount the UK receives back? Please answer in whole numbers, you do not need to include the “£” sign.

* Wording changed from "In 2010–11, Britain's government spent around £692 billion in total. Of this, approximately £105 billion was spent on the NHS, £58 billion on education, £40 billion on defence and £8 billion on energy and climate change."
